

Visit London Popup Card - PrintNcut Version

This is a pop up card that features several iconic landmarks and architectural buildings of London, England. The card can be used for several different occasions such as moving, invitations, special vacation, thinking of you, or a special birthday vacation gift.

This is a very simple card packed with a big WOW factor. It featured PrintNcut elements which eliminates cutting tiny windows and give shading options to you cardstock color selection.

Two levels of buildings provides a 3 dimensional quality to the scene. By selecting different colors of cardstock to print the scene on, will change the color of the buildings. My example has the background buildings printed on a gray tone cardstock. The bridge layer was printed on Vanilla cardstock.

The traditional red double decker bus grounds the card to the location. The cover does not give a clue to the inside and can be used for other occasions.

This is a personal use only due to graphic licensing. Please refer to the Graphic Credits.

The zip file has 4 files in the purchased format. It also has a pdf and jpg version in the ReadMeFirst folder, a photo of the finished product, and the shop TOU which can also be previewed in the shop policy. Please note the tutorial listed are for generic assembly of my 90 degree pop up cards.

Upgraded

The files have been upgraded to include the printNcut graphics and bolder cutting/fold lines. It is strongly recommended that the fold (dashed score) lines are not cut clear through the cardstock. I also recommend reading my other popup card tutorials to help you with the color folding directions.

The popup mechanism has several layers. There are two printNcut background pieces. The building and Ferris wheel are glued to the background. The bridge/Big Ben piece is mounted to the first riser. The remaining three are to stagger the bus, tourist with suitcase and the photographer.

The cover has the selfie couple and bicyclist cutouts. Included is accent pieces for the camera image and backpack.

This really should be a pretty easy popup card to assemble. Ask questions if this is unclear.

Thanks for your purchase and enjoy the smiles you give others with this popup card.
